STOCK PROMOTER IS BROUGHT BACK

Man Who Sold Aluminum Stock Here And at Monessen
Now Under Arrest

EMBEZZLEMENT IS CHARGED

Charged with embezzlement of $6,500 in stock certificates, Harry D. Clark, alias Prof. Dan Levey was brought back from Pittsfield, Mass. Saturday to Pittsburg, where he will be held pending a hearing. Clark is accused by Paul Maiwurm of the Maiwurm Aluminum corporation of Sistersville, W. Va. His stock promotion schemes brought him into Monessen and Charleroi where he made a rather good haul.

Natally attired the man appeared in Monessen about a month ago working under the name of Harry D. Clark. He is a suave, persistent and persuasive salesman, handsome and an unusually clever talker. He sold stock readily and a number of well known men were "taken in."

Then it appeared after he had left that all was not well. Last week word was received by the Pittsburg police that Pinkerton detectives had captured him. They started back from Pittsfield as soon as possible.

The trail first for Clark was taken up at Monessen and Charleroi and continued ten days by automobile through the east. At Charleroi he purchased a Peerless eight automobile. Stock was sold in the two towns upon checks and notes to the aggregate amount of perhaps $10,000 of $15,000. As fast as notes were given they were discounted. However it is said that no money will be lost locally, some arrangement having been made to care for that.

According to telegrams and circulars in the hands of the police Clark is charged in Baltimore and New York with forgery and false pretense and has served prison terms in Elmira Reformatory, Maryland penitentiary, Oregon penitentiary and Sing Sing, New York.

Flames From Stove

MOTHER SUFFERED SAME WAY

In a gas explosion from a kitchen stove, Miss Nora Webster, aged 17 years, daughter of Mrs. Anna Webster of Third street, was seriously burned about the face, arms and throat this morning. Her accident was almost a repetition of an accident of July 14, when her mother was burned.

Miss Webster was placing meat in the stove. She had a match in her hand. Suddenly the flames leaped forth, enveloping her head and shoulders. Immediate treatment was given her and she is getting along as well as could be expected. Mrs. Webster, who suffered in the accident July 14 is recovering.

MAN WITH BIG ROLL OF MONEY WALKS OFF TRESTLE AND DIES

Charles Wood, Fredericktown Man, Watches Construction Work on Culvert Too Intently And Drops 30 Feet to His Doom

Charles Wood, aged about 50 or 55 years, of Fredericktown, was instantly killed when he fell from a railroad trestle at Stoney Run Hollow at Elco Saturday afternoon. It is believed that he was looking at some construction work on culvert nearby when he walked off to his death.

Workmen on the culvert say he seemed to turn from the side of the railroad trestle bridge and fall off into space. They ran to his aid, and picked him up dying. Internal injuries are believed to have caused him to bleed to death.

In his pockets when picked up $260 was found. What Wood was doing in the vicinity no one seems to know. Coroner James T. Heffran was notified and upon investigation pronounced the man's death accidental. His body was taken home from Roscoe today. He was married.

ALLEGED MURDERER IS CAUGHT IN NEW YORK

Kasimer Antonite to be Brought Back From Niagara Falls to Answer to Langeloth Crime

Kasimer Antonite, alleged murderer of Joseph Bedo, who was fatally wounded at Langeloth on June 11, of this year, is under arrest at Niagara Falls and will be brought back to this county to be placed on trial for the crime he is accused of committing.

C. D. Nicholson, officer at the American Zinc and Chemical company plant at Langeloth, left Sunday night for Harnsburg with requisition papers to be signed by Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh. He will go direct to Niagara Falls from there to get his prisoner.

Antonite is declared to be the man who on June 11 ran amuck in the Langeloth district, shooting Bedo and Andy Brusie. Both were removed to the Mercy hospital, Pittsburg, where Bedo died. Others were threatened by Antonite, it is said. When he fled Antonite vowed to return and finish his murderous work, he being unable to get some he desired to, officers say.

Officer Nicholson got trace of Antonite some days ago and finally discovered that he had located in Niagara Falls. Through the district attorney's office, word was sent to that place for Antonite to be placed under arrest. He was captured Wednesday.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES WELL ATTENDED SUNDAY

Christ Lutheran Church Begins Observance of Fifteenth Birthday—Rev. Allbeck and Dr. Keller Preach

The anniversary week at Christ Lutheran church opened Sunday with two excellent sermons, Rev. M. M. Allbeck of Monongahela preaching in the morning and Rev. C. E. Keller, D. D. of Monessen preaching in the evening. Attendance at both services was large.

Rev. Allbeck's theme was "A Prophecy Concerning the Kingdom." He spoke of the early fulfillment of early prophecies concerning the kingdom of God. He spoke of the development of the Christian life. He said that the Gospel stream gives life and light to all wherever it goes—all the best things in our civilization are the results of the Gospel stream.

Rev. Dr. Keller spoke on "Church Love." He said that what Jerusalem was to the captive Jews, the church is to the Christian. The building of the church with its power, he said is evidence of its heavenly origin. The world's advancement is due to the church and the church is the source of all that is worth while in life.

Wednesday evening Rev. Chalmers E. Frontz, of Tiffin, Ohio, a former pastor will be here to preach.

Antonite will probably be placed on trial at the November term of court.

House Being Moved; Was a Landmark

What is known as the old Furnier home, a dwelling which is a landmark is being moved at Dunlevy by Edgar Montgomery of Speers to a nearby vacant lot. The house has been purchased by Mrs. Mary Ruecroft and is the last of a number to be moved from the Dunlevy bottom.

A half century old, the house is still in a good state of preservation. The Furnier ancestors purchased the ground upon which the house was built from the Indians. It consists of about 50 acres.

PITTSBURG STEEL HAS AN EASY TIME WINNING

No Trouble Experienced Beating The Berghoff Athletics of Pittsburg by Top-Heavy Score of 13 to 1—Pitchers Perform Well.

About the easiest game ever won among a big number was that of the Pittsburg Steel company's Saturday affair, which by virtue of politeness was termed a struggle. The thing was with the Berghoff Athletics of Pittsburg. Urban, Osborne, et al, kept at it so everlastingly that before the visitors had time to collect their breath, they had 13 runs scored. One tally was the best the so-called Pittsburg stars could secure.

ECONOMY

Road maintenance in Washington county the last few months—one might say the last several years—has proven an exceedingly expensive proposition. Until lately with the county commissioners begar studying possible economies in that line, there appeared no way of reduction. Now an easy way out is suggested.

The county commissioners propose simply to purchase a complete road outfit and to hire a man to superintend its operation. Then it will be put up to the superintendent to make good on the roads he is told to keep in shape. April 1 of next year is set as the time for the beginning.

This last summer has been an extremely busy season with the contractors and road builders. To induce them to leave their own new work, which was crowding, the county had to pay high. It had to "rent" trucks and road outfits at rates profitable to owners and to secure foremen and labor at prices on which the contractors naturally made money. To say nothing of all this the county had to pay an additional 10 to 15 per cent to the contractors for their services.

With a road outfit the commissioners perceive they can save at least 20 per cent on road repairs. Figures have disproved an old foggy notion Twenty thousand dollars may be tied up in the purchase now of new trucks and other equipment but it will be "pound wise."

TRUTHFUL CHAMP CLARK

"We got whipped and I guess that is all I will say about the Maine election. We got beaten good and plenty
This is the statement of Champ Clark, Democratic Speaker of the House, a statement as honest and truthful as the sophistical distortions of Chairman Vance McCormick, Joseph Daniels and other illustrious Democrats are the reverse. Senator Vardaman of Mississippi appears to have lost his temper over the result and to find an outlet for his ill-nature in abusing the Progressive sow has returned to her wallow." Judging by the comments of Progressives in New York, Mr. Vardaman has done nothing to make votes for Mr. Wilson among any Progressives who may have been undetermined as to how they would vote by his calling the Progressives swine, even though he may be credited with frankness in thus bluntly expressing the sentiment which Wilsonites generally entertain for the Progressives.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

RIVER TRAFFIC.

The announcement from Brownsville that the Frick Coke company was preparing to ship the entire output of one of its mines by river to the new by-product coke plant at Clairton was nothing more than expected. The equipment of this mine, which will have a capacity of about 6,000 tons per day, is being overhauled and repaired. In the expectation that by next spring everything will be in readiness to make the initial water shipment.

Likewise, it betokens that the floating craft necessary to handle the output will be in readiness for the transportation end of the business the barges as well as a newly designed steamboat or propeller now being constructed.

This information will tend to show somewhat of a change of policy on the part of the Frick Company, in that it will for the first time in its history go into extensive river shipments in the Monongahela valley. The needs of the by-products plant at Clairton, however, promises to be such that it would be impossible to maintain the supply of coal by rail, hence the policy of turning to the river for the necessary facilities, and which, undoubtedly, will be found amply adequate to take care of all demands which will be made upon them.

The Frick Coke Company own other large tracts of coal in the valley, notably one on Mingo creek, only a few miles from Donora, which undoubtedly will have to be trapped in

THE WEATHER.

It's a nice thing that the weather has variety of kind. It's a something quite convenient many people often find. It's a thing that helps us out, relieves embarrassment quite off, fills the vacuum many times that we discover in our life. When we try to think of something that's appropriate to say, and the whiteness of that what at just that moment gets away, and we cannot get the joke just right we'd like to put across for the big idea at that time, we're suddenly at a loss. But we're never truly at a loss, at any time or place, for an interesting subject through our thoughts will always chase, giving us a line of language we can warble at our friend, we can talk about the weather and we always can depend, we will interest him greatly, he will lend to us an ear, while behind his furrowed brow within his mind be very near future, in order to take care of the fuel and supply demands which the Clairton plant will make on he company. Likewise this new policy will add thousands of tons in the way of traffic to the river business, and make the Monongahela more important than ever in the transportation of coal.—Donora Herald.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Most people imagine the Congressional Record is for Wilson, and consider it certain it won't be very long before it will be for Hughes.

When a man is too busy to pay his bills he is too busy to be trusted.

The reason a woman can't choose a hat for a man is that she can't remember that he has to wear it.

Come to think of it, this is the coldest September 18 this year.

Editorial Comments

The Democrats continue to ignore Mr. Hughes' speeches to the extent that all they do is to sputter and gasp.

Let it be conceded there are really strong grounds for the opinion that President Wilson may carry Texas next November. If these indications are taken at their full worth some enthusiasts will soon be going out to bet that the tide will sweep on until Mississippi and Alabama are also enrolled in the Democratic column.

Many big Democrats willing and ready to speak for Wilson are careful that their money shall not say anything on his side.

President Wilson says he is utterly indifferent as to his re-election. Perhaps that explains a good many things nobody has heretofore been able to understand.

"Help me, Cassius, or I sink!" For "Cassius" read "congress."

The notion seems to be that the Democratic national chairman is claiming more than he will get, but not any more than he will need.

As further evidence that he is warm hearted and intensely human, Mr.
Hughes likes apple pie.

No man is going to be elected—or re-elected—to high office by votes gained from states' rights declarations this late in the game. The states' rights question was settled some fifty years ago to the evident satisfaction of a considerable majority.—Kansas City Star.

"Adequate preparedness is not militarism. It is the essential assurance of security. It is a necessary safeguard of peace." Candidate Hughes has left nothing to be said on this subject. He has snuffed out counter argument at the very outset.

"Are we Americans a nation of bunglers?" asks the New York Sun.
It would be very harsh to answer this in the affirmative—and, anyway, we elect a Democratic president only every once in a while.

Charles E. Hughes cannot get so far away from Washington that the men in charge of the chariot of government there do not feel the jolting of his criticisms. In fact, the Democratic leaders at the capital city show symptoms of seasickness from the way in which the ex-justice of the supreme court has shaken them up. Mr. Hughes is pursuing the only proper method, which is first to take the deadwood out of the way so that the path to righteous and propitious government may be made clear.

THE NEUTRALITY OF PONTIUS PILATE

But as soon as the need for deeds arose Mr. Wilson forgot all about "the principle he held dear." He promptly announced that he should be "neutral in fact as well as in name, in thought as well as in action," between the small, weak, unof-fending nation and the large, strong nation which was robbing it of its sovereignty and independence. Such neutrality has been compared to the neutrality of Pontius Pilate. This is unjust to Pontius Pilate, who at least gently urged moderation on the wrongdoer.—From the speech of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, delivered at Lewiston, Me., in behalf of Charles E.
Hughes.

THE PRESIDENT GETS UP EARLY

The president gets up early during the hot spell, and there are some who think he may have to continue the practice until November if that man Hughes continues to be so undignified.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

WILSON'S IGNOBLE, UNSUC- CESSFUL LITTLE WARS.

President Wilson took Vera Cruz in 1914, as we were officially informed at the time, to get a salute for the flag and to prevent the shipment of arms into Mexico. He did not get his salute. He did not prevent the shipment of arms. But several hundred men were killed or wounded, and then he brought the army home without achieving either object. President Wilson sent an army into Mexico in 1916, as we were informed at the time, to get Villa "dead or alive." They did not get him dead. They did not get him alive. Again several hundred men were killed and wounded.
Again President Wilson is bringing the army home without achieving his object. Of course it is a mere play upon words to say that these were not "wars." They were wars and nothing else—ignoble, pointless, unsuccessful little wars, but wars. They cost millions of dollars and hundreds of lives, squandered to no purpose. They accomplished nothing, but they were wars.—From the speech of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, delivered at Lewiston, Me., in behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

ROBIN REDBREAST'S BRIDE.

"Robin Redbreast," said Daddy,
"was walking up the Hill. It was not very high to be sure, but Robin Red-breast thought it was a very fine one and that it was an extremely dignified and stylish thing to lead a Lady up the Hill."
"Was he leading a Lady up the Hill?" asked the children.
"Yes, that's just it," continued Daddy. "Robin Redbreast was very much taken with Miss Plumpe Robin, and he wanted her to become his wife."
"Miss Plumpe Robin had been given that name by her mother when she was a little Baby Robin, and not yet able to fly. She was the plumpest and best looking Robin in Mrs. Robin's brood, and her mother couldn't help but call her 'Plumpe,' or 'Plumpe,' for short.

"Plumpe," said Robin Redbreast,
"will you take a walk with me and have an afternoon Worm with me in my parlor?"

"You see Robin Redbreast was a very fashionable Robin and he always had an afternoon Worm just as some Folks have Afternoon Tea. He thought, and he had planned to allow Mrs.
Robin Redbreast to give many a big Party and he would go a-hunting for all the Worms to feed her guests.

"Chirp," trilled Plumpe, which meant she would love to take the walk with Robin Redbreast, so they had started off up the Hill as I have already told you.

This Hill was a part of an old fashioned Garden where there were a great many Apple Trees. And in an Apple Tree at the top of the hill was Robin Redbreast's Nest and his Parlor.

"What a fine Hill leads up to your Parlor?" said Plumpe. Then she got very nervous for she was so much afraid that Robin Redbreast might think she was hinting that she would like to live in the same Home. Of course, she did want to—but she wanted Robin Redbreast to ask her first.
"Robin Redbreast didn't notice that Plumpe was nervous. He was just very proud and happy that she liked the Hill and he was hoping she would think his Parlor a fine one.

"Here we are," said Robin Red-breast, as they reached the top of the hill.

"Where is your parlor?" asked Plumpe.

"Here in the Apple Tree. Hop right up." For the Birds always say, "Hop right up," instead of, "Walk right in," or "take a chair."

"Then Robin Redbreast showed Plumpe his Parlor, and asked her to find a comfortable Perch while he brought out the Afternoon Worm.

"Plumpe straightened her feathers after the walk when she thought Robin Redbreast was too busy to notice. For she didn't want him to think

"Tell Me Quickly," He Chirped.

she was vain. He seemed such a superior sort of a bird, and she felt sure he wouldn't like to see anyone fussing.

"Here is a Worm!" said Robin Redbreast proudly. And on a large Apple leaf he carried a big, fat worm.
Around the worm was a little bit of black, soft earth which Robin Red-breast explained was for decorations and looks.

"Just as Folks put green around Meat and so forth," he chirped.

"It's delicious," said Plumpe as she took a nibble.

"I hope you don't mind eating the same Worm with me," said Robin Red-breast. "It's so much more sociable.
And now that I think of it—and speaking of being sociable, and friendly ways, how would you like to share my Parlor with me and have me always see that you get the best Worms from the Garden down there? I'm a good Provider. I'd get all the Worms you could eat—and enough to entertain all your friends with. Yes, we'd have a fine Home." And Robin Red-breast strutted around proudly on the branch where he was sitting.

"Tell me quickly," he chirped,
"wouldn't you like it? Doesn't this Party show you that I know how to more—in the House near by there is a little Girl who keeps a dish filled with Water where we can have private

There are only a few dozen Robins who know about it, and there is plenty for all."

"Oh wonderful, wonderful," twittered Plumpe, and Robin Redbreast gave her a smack on her little beak.

MEMORY OF FACES AN ASSET

Hotel Clerks, Bank Cashiers and Detectives Have That Faculty Highly Developed.

Hotel clerks have a way of recognizing guests as soon as they sign a register. The most successful hotel keepers have to have this power of remembering the faces of their guests and all about them or they would soon lose their custom by the mistakes they could make.

Bank cashiers carry in their memories the faces and signatures of most of the customers of the bank.

Detectives, too, get into the habit of remembering the faces of everyone with whom they have to deal, whether criminals or not.

"I don't think I have ever forgotten a customer," a clerk in one of the big safe deposits recently said.
"There are hundreds of safe-deposit boxes rented in our vaults, and I can generally remember, without referring to our books, the name, number and password of each customer."

ONE OF NAPOLEON'S IDEAS

He Founded St. Cyr Military Academy to Get Cavalry Leaders From Good Families.

The great French military academy of St. Cyr, about which so much is heard in these days, was, of course, founded by Napoleon. One of Napoleon's chief military difficulties was to obtain officers for his new armies, and it was mainly with a view to overcoming this difficulty that he organized the great military college at St. Cyr-L'Ecole. He specially wanted to secure good cavalry leaders, and convinced of the necessity of such leaders being of "good family," he issued the curious instruction that those who fulfilled requirements in this respect should be "examined with indulgence as regards knowledge of arithmetic and geometry."—Christian Science Monitor.

SPREADING LOS ANGELES.

Los Angeles is the largest city in the United States. Someone will doubtless arise to controvert this statement by a show of figures. But the fact remains that Los Angeles is the largest city in the matter of area. Through recent annexations the City of the Angels now includes a territory of 337.92 square miles, against 314.75 for New York, 198 for Chicago, 129 for Philadelphia and 53.29 for Minneapolis. The haste of the suburbs of Los Angeles to get in under the city limits, where the taxing is good, is due to the desire to get the city's water. Water in California is liquid happiness, and Los Angeles has recently completed a $23,000,000 aqueduct that brings the best of water from the mountains. The city is not permitted by the laws to sell water outside of the limits, hence the desire of the outlying districts to get in. This 337.92 miles of area in Los Angeles helps to explain the 550,000 population now claimed for the city. As long as the water and the climate hold out, these figures will continue to grow, till the saturation point comes.

"I've been traveling for my

"Don't you find it rather expen-

"Yes, but then I get away from my doctor."

PARENTHOOD MEANS MORE

In These Modern Days It Has Become an Exacting, Full-Time Vocation.

Being a parent used to be one of the most simple, natural and inevitable developments in the world, says Abraham Flexner in the Atlantic. People used to grow up, marry and raise families—they still do back in the country—and society was satisfied if parents could clothe, feed and exercise a general supervision over their offspring. But nowadays one has no business to be married and have children unless, sleeping and waking, one is conscious of the responsibility. Competent modern parents must supervise the feeding, housing and playing of their children on terms that, if applied a generation ago, would have brought the reproduction of the human race to a dead standstill. And now, responsive to the same forces, competent modern parents must supervise schooling. The schoolmaster is no longer to pursue his own sweet way. Parents are going to inspect him, as they inspect every other factor in the child's life. Modern parenthood has thus become an exacting, full-time vocation—that is, persons who enter the profession have no time for other occupations, except the suffrage, and they cut themselves off from all other forms of remunerative and enjoyable activity.

WOOD IDENTIFICATION.

The distinguishing characteristics of more than 400 native and 100 foreign woods have been determined and systematically arranged by the United States forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis. Use is made of these data—partly revealed only by the microscope—in identifying the woods submitted for examination, more than 1,000 samples being sent in yearly. The information supplied is of greatly variable importance to the inquirer, as is illustrated by the fact that one person wished to satisfy his curiosity as to the wood used for a certain chess pawn, while in another case a contractor had thousands of ties that a railroad company had rejected as red oak instead of the white oak specified.

MAY HELP OUT HOUSEWIFE

List of Menus That Give Variety With the Use of Only the Standard Foods.

The following menus were worked out by a class in cookery at the Connecticut Agricultural college, the problem being to plan 12 dinners, using only four common foods, beef, potatoes, cabbage, and apples, without repeating a dish, and to select appropriate food combinations and attractive ways of serving these.

These menus could be used in winter or summer, and it is hoped that they may suggest an answer to the housekeeper's oft-repeated question, "What shall I give my family for dinner today?"

1. Roast beef, potatoes roasted with the beef, creamed cabbage, apple pie.
2. Broiled beefsteak, French-fried potatoes, hot slaw, baked apples and cream.
3. Corned beef, boiled potatoes, boiled cabbage, apple Brown Betty.
4. Beefsteak pie, baked potatoes, cold slaw, apple fritters.
5. Minced beef with gravy, browned mashed potatoes, scalloped cabbage with cheese, Dutch apple cake.
6. Beef croquettes, creamed potatoes, cabbage and celery salad with French dressing, apple tapioca.
7. Pot roast, scalloped potatoes, sauerkraut, apple dumplings.
8. Potato soup, browned hash, cabbage and olive salad with boiled dressing, apple charlotte.
9. Cold beef loaf, German cabbage with sour sauce, potato salad, apple snow.
10. Baked beef liver, stuffed baked potatoes, fried cabbage, apple sauce and apple sauce cake.
11. Creamed dried beef, hashed—browned potatoes, cabbage and green pepper salad with sour cream dressing apple slump.
12. Rolled stuffed steak, rice potatoes, steamed cabbage with drawn butter sauce, apple and date salad.—Maud E. Hayes, Department of Home Economics, Connecticut Agricultural College.

Pepper Mangoes.

Cut off stem ends of large green sweet (Bell) peppers and remove seeds. Soak in strong brine for three days. Then take eight tablespoonsful of chopped cabbage, four teaspoonsful of English mustard seed, one tablespoonful mustard seed, two tablespoonfuls chopped onions, one teaspoonful each of grated horseradish whole pepper corns and ground mace and a heaping tablespoonful of brown sugar. Moisten to a paste with salad oil and stuff the peppers, tying the tops on with cord after the peppers have been filled. Pack in a stone jar and cover with scalding vinegar, to which has been added half a cupful of brown sugar. Let stand several months before using.

Baked Onions.

Peel as many good, firm medium sized onions as the size of your family will require. Put them into a saucepan and parboil until tender, not done. Remove and drain water carefully off. Then place in a deep baking dish, close enough together so that they will just swell. Season with salt, pepper and a few tiny pieces of butter. Cover with a layer of finely rolled bread crumbs, drop two or three pieces of butter on these, pour over all one cupful of cream or rich milk and bake until the crumbs are a rich golden brown. Bake in a moderate oven. Remove and serve in individual dishes, either plain or with a white sauce.

Fricateilli.

Pass through a meat chopper enough pork tenderloin to make two cupfuls and season with pepper and salt, one teaspoonful of grated onion and a quarter teaspoonful of powdered sage. Moisten one cupful of bread crumbs with boiling water, squeeze dry and add to the meat with one beaten egg. Shape into small cakes, dredge with flour and brown on both sides in hot bacon fat, cooking slowly in order that the meat may be thoroughly cooked without burning.

Parsnip Balls.

One cupful cooked mashed parsnips, one-half cupful cracker crumbs (scant), one egg yolk, one-half cupful coarsely ground nut meats. Combine the parsnip, cracker crumbs and egg yolk; salt to taste. Shape the mixture in balls, roll them in the nut meats, and fry them in deep fat hot enough to brown a bit of bread in forty seconds.

Cream Pudding.

Stir together one pint cream, three ounces sugar, the yolks of three eggs and a little grated nutmeg. Add the well-beaten whites, stirring lightly, and pour into a buttered pie plate on which have been sprinkled fine crumbs of stale bread to about the thickness of an ordinary crust. Sprinkle over the top a layer of bread crumbs and bake.

Fig Sandwiches.

Cut thin slices of buttered bread in fancy shapes with fig filling between each two. Prepare as follows: One-half a pound finely chopped figs; one-half cupful of sugar, one-half cupful boiling water and two tablespoonsful of lemon juice. Mix these ingredients and cook in a double boiler until thick enough to spread.

Use Potato Water.

Potato water is excellent for cleaning spoons and knives and forks. Apply it with a soft cloth. All stains will disappear immediately. Polish with a chamols leather after this treatment.

Miljus, Roberts and Osborne took turns at pitching. Between them they permitted but five hits, while the home folk were gathering to their bosom the sum total of 13. Boucher, the crackerjack third baseman of the Pittsburg Steel, led the hitting with three hard bingles. Urban, Gross and Phillips divided second hitting honors with two safeties each.

Runs were made in the first, third, fourth, seventh and eighth. The Berkoffs run was secured in the second inning and after that there wasn't the ghost of a chance for them. Score:

Little Incident Proves the Natives of Nigeria Are Capable of Being Educated.

That the natives of Nigeria are capable of advanced forms of education is apparently proved by this little incident told by Constance Larymore in "A Resident's Wife in Nigeria."

"My husband told me that in the course of the patrol they passed through a valley where the inhabitants of the rocks and hills above apparently made their homes in holes and caves. One member of the party idly asked what was the scientific name of cave dwellers, the word having slipped his memory for the moment. No one appeared to be able to supply the word. But then the native interpreter, plodding along behind, came up, saying: 'Pardon me, sir, don't you mean troglodytes?'"

"The Englishman, amazed, asked where he had ever heard such a word and George replied placidly, 'I was reading a dictionary one day and saw it.'"

"I cannot imagine myself reading a German or Italian dictionary for pleasure and storing in my mind for future use conversationally a specially unusual scientific term. I only wish I could."

GOLD SENT TO ITALY.

According to a recent investigation by an Italian parliamentary commission, Italian emigrants send every year to their native home, through the banks and post offices alone, $120,000,000 in gold. To this must be added an unknown amount which the emigrants bring home with them or send through their friends and relatives. The annual wealth produced by the entire Italian nation even now amounts to only a little more than $600,000,000. The savings of the emigrants, therefore, make up about one-fifth of the entire annual revenue of the country.—Raphael Zon, in Yale Review.

REPUBLICAN THRIFT IS SQUANDERED BY WILSON

Built Panama Canal Out of Current Revenues. Patriotically Hoarding Bonds in Treasury Which Democrats Filch to Hide a Deficit.

CARNIVAL OF DEBAUCHERY IN PUBLIC EXPENDITURE

Senator Penrose Believes the Loosed Condition of the Treasury Will Necessitate the Withholding of Contracts for Battleships and Delay the Whole Scheme of Preparedness—Nation's Money Frittered Away to Finance Hare Brained and Ill Advised Projects.

William R. Willcox, chairman of the Republican National committee, has received from Senator Penrose a brief but positive summing up of the extravagances of the Wilson administration during the session of congress just about to close. The senator says:

"When the country realizes what this congress has done in the way of appropriations it will be dumfounded. Already it has been shown that over a billion, seven or eight hundred million dollars have been appropriated—more money than was ever appropriated in any one year in the history of the American government. The total will reach nearly $2,000,000,000 before the end of this carnival of debauchery in public expenditures is reached, because no account has been taken of the $25,000,000 for the Danish islands, the $50,000,000 which the government will probably have to refund as a result of the 5 per cent rebate allowed on importations brought across the seas in American bottoms, and other matters which are likely to come up."

"It is only too evident that this bill which is expected to bring in some $200,000,000 will absolutely fail to meet even the requirements for the ill advised and certainly not urgent projects authorized by the present congress."

"It is now claimed that these projects are to be financed by the issuance of Panama canal bonds. The American people will regard such a proceeding as a very queer one because the issuing of bonds by the Cleveland administration largely helped to bring about the downfall of the Democratic party in 1896. A bond issue has ever since been viewed with abhorrence by the Democracy; now we find the party leaders completely by reason of their extravagance and inefficiency, to resort to it."

"To defray the expenses of a nitrate plant and of a shipyard board and many other needless projects by the issuing of Panama canal bonds will be in the last analysis equivalent to paying for them by bond issues. These bonds are lying in the treasury unused as the result of the thrift and economy and wise administration of the Republican party."

"Only about $130,000,000 of bonds were put out in the construction of the Panama canal. The balance of the cost of that stupendous undertaking was paid out of current revenues; and now, to advance the novel doctrine that these bonds which represent the thrift of preceding years shall be issued for these questionable projects is, to my mind, preposterous. In fact it was expressly provided in the Spooner act that Panama canal bonds should not be issued for any other purpose than that of the construction of the canal, and the ingenious theory that they can be issued now to repay the treasury and that then the money can be squandered by the party in power to finance doubtful projects and to make good a deficit will not alter the fact that such a deficit exists."

"No amount of reasoning on the part of the chairman of the committee on finance will alter the fact that outside of preparedness there has been at least $200,000,000 of wasteful appropriations and expenditures by the present congress. That condition of the treasury will absolutely necessitate the withholding of contracts for battleships and delay the whole scheme of preparedness."

"The figures of the secretary of the treasury may be juggled as they may, but when the secretary is up against the brute fact of not having money to pay for these projects he will then find that figures will not make a surplus in the treasury."

SACRIFICED COUNTRY'S HONOR AND INTEREST

Mr. Wilson's defenders say he "has kept us out of war." As a matter of fact, his policy in Mexico has combined all the evils of feeble peace with all the evils of feeble war. He has secured none of the benefits of war, but he has not avoided war. He has sacrificed the honor and the interests of the country, but he has not received the thirty pieces of silver.—From the Speech of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Delivered at Lewiston, Me., in Behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

HUGHES' LABOR RECORD.

When Mr. Hughes, remembering only that he is a Democrat and forgetting that he is a leader of organized labor, ventured to assert that Mr. Hughes is an enemy to labor because he concurred in the unanimous decision in the Embury matters' case, he ventured on very thin ice. The Chicago Tribune promptly reminds him that an honest judge must apply the law as he thinks it is, not as he thinks it ought to be, and asks him to tell those who look to him for political advice something about the record of Mr. Hughes as governor. Read what the Legislative Labor News, the official organ of the New York Federation of Labor, said editorially when Mr. Hughes left the governor's chair at Albany for his place on the supreme court. Here it is: "Now that Governor Hughes has retired from politics and ascended to a place on the highest judicial tribunal in the world, the fact can be acknowledged without hurting anybody's political coras that he was the greatest friend of labor laws that ever occupied the governor's chair at Albany. During his two terms he has signed fifty-six labor laws, including among them the best labor laws ever enacted in this or any state."

"He also urged the enactment of labor laws in his messages to the legislature, even going so far as to place the demand for a labor law in one of his messages to an extra session of the legislature."

"Only 102 labor laws have been enacted in this state since its erection in 1777—in 133 years. One-third of these, exceeding in quality all of the others, have been enacted and signed during Governor Hughes' term of three years and nine months."

Let organized labor take to heart what the Chicago Tribune says on this point: "Mr. Hughes is no demagogue and no visionary. He is a man of courage and conscience, and if labor cannot confide its cause to his rock bottom Americanism there is something wrong with its cause."—Boston Herald.

IN JELLY SEASON

METHODS OF PUTTING UP VARIOUS KINDS OF FRUIT.

Tartaric or Citric Acid Added to the Juice Will Be Found to Effect an Improvement—Must Not Be Used Always.

It is just about as easy to make jelly from apples, quinces, peaches, or pears as from any other kind of fruit, if you know how, according to Miss Addie D. Root of the Missouri College of Agriculture. All that is necessary is to add enough tartaric or citric acid to the juice to make it taste about as sour as a good sour apple. This usually means about a level teaspoonful to a quart of juice. It destroys the delicate flavor of peach and pear juice somewhat but improves the flavor of sweet apple and quince juice.

Blackberries, blueberries, raspberries, partially ripe grapes, crab apples, sour apples, and plums usually make good jelly because they have enough acid already and also contain a substance called pectin which must be present and must be brought out with the juice by heating if jelly is to be made. That is why jelly-makers do not simply press out the juice from cold fruit. All apples and similar fruits have enough pectin for jelly-making purposes.

In making apple jelly cover the fruit with water before cooking and boil 20 or 30 minutes. After boiling has continued 10 or 15 minutes, add three-quarters of a cupful of sugar for every cupful of juice. The sugar that will be required should have been measured into a pan and warmed in the oven for a while before it is added. It should be carefully stirred in to prevent burning.

As soon as the glasses are filled with the hot jelly they should be set in a cool place while jelling takes place. They should be sealed from the air, but if the jelly has been slightly overcooked it may be covered with panes of glass and allowed to harden in the sun. When it is well set pour hot paraffin over the top and put clean tin covers on the glasses. Store them away in a dry, cool place where the jelly cannot mold.

George's Love.

Frances Starr, the popular actress said at a June wedding in Washington:

"The highest, purest love is unselfish—or, at least, it tries to be unselfish."

"But the average love is like George's."

"George loves you devotedly, doesn't he?" said one girl to another.

"Yes, quite too devotedly," the other girl answered. "He'd rather sit in the parlor with me every evening than take me to a show."

SEES HOPE FOR JEWS HERE

French Writer After Visit to America Tells of Thriving Community in the New York Ghetto.

M. Victor Basch writes in the Mercure de France of a recent visit to the United States, in which he describes, as one of the most interesting sights in New York, "the Jewish Ghetto," which many assert to be the largest in the world, an entirely Jewish town of more than a million people, coming from all quarters of the world. He says:

"There exists in New York today a thriving, powerful Jewish community. Will it remain purely Jewish, and as such increase and prosper, or will it become merged in the great hodge-podge of America? Who can tell? But at least it is certain that the millions of Jews who have settled there are leading a free, healthy life. Their children have not the downtrodden aspect of their parents. They speak their own language and read their Yiddish papers openly. They dare to own that they are Jews and to show that they are proud of their Jewish birth. They know that no one dare reproach them with their religion or their race. They know that not only in New York but in the great northern states, in Idaho, in Montana, and in North Dakota, there is room and work for millions of Jews who would be welcome there. And I wonder if it may not be in this new world that the resting place of this old, wandering race is to be found; if it is not there that they can build up this new Jerusalem, the dream of this persecuted race."

"WHY, THEY DON'T ANSWER"

Then Sleeper Awoke to Find That Supposed Telephone Was Faithful Old Alarm Clock.

A man in the employ of an automobile concern believes in using the alarm clock in getting up on time.

The faithful alarm clock was put on the job every night except when the Sunday holiday came to give Mr. Man and the alarm clock a chance to loaf on the job.

But one Saturday night the auto man forgot himself and set the alarm.

When the alarm began buzzing early Sunday morning, his wife awoke, but she decided to let her husband get up and shut the alarm off, since he was the cause of it.

Husband, however, never stirred. He mumbled something in his sleep. The mumbled grew louder.

"Hello! Hello!" he cried out. "What's the matter?" asked the wife.

"Why, they don't answer," replied the sleeping talker until his wife gave him a thump, and he knew it was the alarm.

Facts as to Editors.

On rainy days, and also on other occasions which are not unconnected with the postman's visit, we find the whole of a truth is this from the Thomasville (Ga.) Times:

"If you see an editor who pleases everybody, there will be a glass plate over his face and he will not be standing up."—Collier's Weekly.

Keeping Friends.

"This poet speaks about keeping friends with oneself. That sounds nonsensical for me."

"Not at all. Didn't you ever call yourself names?"

"Yes."

"And why? Because you had done something of which you did not approve?"—Kansas City Journal.

Hence the Delay.

One Instance of H. C. L.

"Yes," the shoemaker said, as he wrapped up a pair of shoes he had just half soled. "there seems to be no end to the rise in prices. The sole leather that I bought twenty years ago for twenty-three cents a pound now costs me sixty-eight cents. Here are the bills and you can see for yourself."

"Has the rise been sudden?"

"No. It has been gradual and continuous."

With sole leather costing three times as much as it did twenty years ago, one has at least a glimpse of the increased cost of living.—Columbus Dispatch.
